

Use the Church Mission Fields and Personal Relational Network diagrams to reflect on the places and relationships where you currently dwell, both as a church and personally. Write down the names of people and places where you already spend time, and consider how you might dwell more intentionally in those contexts.

Then reflect on who else is part of your wider community; the people and places where you are not yet dwelling, but where you could begin. You may wish to discuss the Church Mission Fields page together and complete the personal page on your own later.

1. Those needs where you have a desire to reach out
2. God calling you to somewhere you would not naturally go
